HUMANITARIAN GLOBAL DEFENCE
INTERNATIONAL PEACEKEEPERS

TRAINING PROGRAM

The program: "Humanitarian Global Defence" is intended to prepare the candidate to international security operations and peacekeeping, outside the UN framework. The philosophy of the program is primarily focused on achieving a multidisciplinary competence of the participant, which will allow him a variety of assignments in the field of security and facilitate its ability to adapt during a foreign mission. This unique program in Canada, is aimed primarily at candidates with experience in the private or public security or military.

The program lasting 240 hours, is divided into three (3) blocks about 80 hours each. The summary content of the training is:

BLOCK #1 : BASIC CONCEPTS OF SECURITY

As part of his duties, the international peacekeeper must not only be able to identify risks to the security of goods and people, but also to concretely apply the methods and techniques related to the monitoring, prevention and protection of infrastructure, goods and people under his responsibility, while ensuring to protect himself and all of his colleagues. This block will allow the candidate to acquire the concepts of security (surveillance, prevention and protection) formed the basis for his future function. Tactics for personal defense and security control of a violent person, in accordance with the employment rules in force, are essential elements of the block # 1.

Some adressed topics :

- International security
- The principles of peacekeeping programs
- Agent behavior standards
- Protection of infrastructure
- The use of force and intervention principles
- Emergency measures
- Terrorism and threats to personal safety.
- Port security (ISPS Code)
- Physical and mental conditioning agent
- The emergency care
- The defensive tactics - RISK System
- The extensible baton
- Control of an uncooperative subject and handcuffing

BLOCK #2: OPERATIONS OF PROTECTION

The operations related to the protection of life, critical infrastructure and property, represent the bulk of the international peacekeeper. After acquiring the basic concepts related to safety and emergency measures in general, the future international peacekeeper must learn to plan and take part in protection operations. This block aims to deepen specific concepts for the protection of critical infrastructure, to escort people, to escort and protect convoys and high-risk cargo in hostile area, as well as control crowd. Teamwork will be put forward, as well as leadership development. Candidates also begin their training with weapons.

Some adressed topics :

- Introduction to missions of protection
- The role and functions of the protection agent
- The professional protocol and etiquette
- The evaluation of threat
- The 4 lines of défense
- Pre-visits and missions preparations
- Protective operations (of VIP, key facilities, transport and convoys)
- Monitoring and counter surveillance
- The defensive tactics - RISK System
- Firearms (handguns and long rifles)

BLOCK #3: TACTICAL INTERVENTIONS ET OPERATIONS

The last block is essentially oriented towards tactical aspects related to operations of intervention and protection . Physical training, scenarios and group exercises are prioritized in this block. Applicants will be constantly tested to ensure that those selected at the end of the program are able to provide with integrity, professional and efficiency, the agent function of international peacekeeper for the AZØTH Group.

Some adressed topics :

- Tactical medecine
- Driving (protective and defensive)
- Close protection scenario
- Convoy protection scenario in hostile zone
- Tactical shooting (handguns and long rifles)
- The search of hostile environnement (house clearing)
- Defensive tactics and close combat - RISK System